You may not use Chariton Valley’s network, systems or servers to transmit, upload, download, store, disseminate, post or submit any material, content, images or data in any manner that constitutes an infringement of third-party intellectual property rights, including under the US copyright laws. Chariton Valley assumes no responsibility, and you assume all risks, regarding the determination of whether material is in the public domain or may be used by you for such purposes.

You understand and agree that all use of the Service, as defined in the Chariton Valley Terms of Service is subject to the terms of Chariton Valley’s Copyright Infringement Policy and Copyright Notification Policy (“Policy”), as detailed herein, and incorporated by reference into the Terms of Service and Chariton Valley’s Acceptable Use Policy (“AUP”). From time to time, we may revise these terms, effective upon posting of such revisions to our website.

DMCA Compliance and Copyright Notification Policy

The Digital Millennium Copyright Act of 1998 (“DMCA”) provides that owners of copyrighted works who believe that their rights under US copyright law have been infringed may report alleged infringements to services providers like Chariton Valley when use of the Internet service involves system caching, information residing on systems or networks at the direction of users, or information location tools, or more generally when a customer is storing or hosting content on Chariton Valley’s equipment. In addition, under its Copyright Notification Policy, Chariton Valley voluntarily accepts and processes allegations of infringement over peer-to-peer technologies by a customer’s use of Chariton Valley’s transitory network communications services, so long as the content provider, or its agent, submitting such allegation abides by Chariton Valley’s business rules.

DMCA: In accordance with the DMCA and other applicable law, it is the policy of Chariton Valley to terminate, in appropriate circumstances, the Internet service provided to any subscriber or account holder who is deemed to infringe third party intellectual property rights, including repeat infringers. Chariton Valley may limit, suspend, or terminate your service at any time, with or without notice to you. It is also Chariton Valley’s policy to remove or disable access to any material claimed to be infringing by a copyright owner that is residing at the direction of a subscriber on Chariton Valley’s system or network.

Copyright Notification Policy: Chariton Valley’s Copyright Notification Policy is to inform you about alleged copyright infringement occurring on your Internet service account (such as unlawful video or audio file sharing) so that you, as the account owner, can take steps to prevent any future possible infringement. File sharing copyrighted material without the permission of the copyright owner or its authorized representative is in many instances unlawful and can subject infringers to potential civil and criminal liability. We will contact you to let you know that your account is potentially being used for copyright infringement.

It is also Chariton Valley's policy to inform you about claims that you have stored material or caused material to reside on Chariton Valley's system or network that infringes on copyrights. We will promptly remove or disable access to such stored material, and we will notify you that we have removed or disabled access to such stored material when we notify you about the claim.

For Customers who fail to stop the allegedly infringing activity from occurring over their Internet connection and for whom Chariton Valley continues to receive copyright notifications, we will take the following action:

- 1st offense – Customer will be called with a warning.
- 2nd offense - Customer will receive a certified letter stating service will be suspended if the allegedly infringing activity continues.
- 3rd offense – Services will be suspended for 30 days.
- 4th offense – Permanent disconnect.

Use of the Chariton Valley Services, systems, and network constitutes your understanding and agreement to the AUP posted our website, as well as this Policy.

The unlawful use of copyrighted materials violates Chariton Valley's Terms of Service and Acceptable Use Policy.

Identifying Possible Copyright Infringer Account: Copyright owners use certain automated techniques to identify Internet users who they believe are engaged in possible copyright infringement, including illegal file sharing. When they find this kind of activity, the copyright owners send Chariton Valley the name of the copyrighted work alleged to be infringed and the Internet Protocol ("IP") address of the computer that is suspected of sharing copyrighted content. Chariton Valley matches the IP address to the specific customer who was assigned that IP address at the time of the activity, and then notifies our customer of the possible copyright infringement.

Copyright Infringement and Your Privacy: Copyright owners do not know the actual identity of the user assigned to the IP address associated with the activity that they believe may be illegal. While Chariton Valley may know which customer was assigned to the IP address, Chariton Valley does not share that information with the copyright owners. Chariton Valley will always respect your privacy and will not share information that identifies you personally or provide your identity to copyright owners without a legal requirement to do so, such as a subpoena or court order.

Your Rights Regarding Removed or Disabled Material: If Chariton Valley has removed or disabled access to material that you have stored or caused to reside on our system or network as a result of a claim by a copyright owner that the material is infringing, you may provide Chariton Valley a counter notification, and Chariton Valley will provide that counter notification to the person who notified Chariton Valley about the alleged infringement. Chariton Valley will replace the removed material or cease disabling access to it in not less than 10 business days and not more than 14 business days unless Chariton Valley receives a notice from the person who submitted the alleged infringement claim that such person has filed an action seeking a court order to restrain subscriber from engaging in infringing activity related to the material stored or residing on Chariton Valley's system or network at subscriber's direction.

Subscriber's counter notification to Chariton Valley must be in writing and sent to Chariton Valley's designated agent, as identified below. The counter notification must also include: (1) a physical or electronic signature of the subscriber; (2) identification of the material that has been removed or to which access has been disabled and the location at which the material appeared before it was removed or access to it was disabled; (3) a statement under penalty of perjury that the subscriber has a good faith belief that the material was removed or disabled as a result of mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled; and (4) the subscriber's name, address, and telephone number, and a statement that the subscriber consent to the jurisdiction of Federal District Court for the judicial district in which the address is located, or if the subscriber's address is outside of the United States, for any judicial district in which the Chariton Valley may be found, and that the subscriber will accept service of process from the person who provided notification of the alleged copyright infringement for material stored or caused to reside on Chariton Valley's system or network at direction of the subscriber.
